

RARE GOOD HUMOR IN TAFT'S SPEECH

Compliments Laymen's Missionary Movement Upon Its Work.

COMPARES ITS LABORS TO GOVERNMENT'S

Gifford Pinchot Makes Strong Address As Chairman—Introduces the President.

Manifesting keen interest in its work, President William H. Taft, in a speech before the Washington convention of the Laymen's Missionary movement, which began its sessions in D. A. R. Hall today, compared the organization's labors to some of the great things the American Government is doing and has planned.

Mr. Taft made especial reference to the difficulties confronting the American Government in some of its foreign policies, and also in working to bring about totally satisfactory conditions in recently acquired colonial possessions.

The President was in rare humor, and his speech direct and convincing, was interpolated with flashes of humor now and then.

By the time the President arrived, nearly a thousand men of Washington representing fourteen evangelical denominations, were in their seats. On the stage sat many notable churchmen and diplomats. Prominent among the latter was Ambassador James Bryce.

Miss Taft In Box.

Just a few women managed to elude the alert doorkeepers and, enter the hall. Miss Helen Taft and a friend occupied one of the boxes, while three women sat in the gallery of the auditorium. The meeting was for men, the doorkeepers announced, as they turned away many women who desired to hear the President.

After the morning devotional exercises, led by the Bishop of Washington, Gifford Pinchot, chairman of the meeting, made a characteristic speech before the President arrived.

"The laymen's movement," declared Mr. Pinchot, "was nothing more than the application of the principles of conservation which had been exemplified in this country so far as material things are concerned in the Roosevelt policy of conservation of national resources."

"That policy had spread to all the world so far as material things are concerned," he said. "Now, this laymen's movement looks to the conservation of the spiritual and moral resources of the Christian brotherhood for the benefit of the millions outside the fold."

President Is Cheered.

Shortly after Mr. Pinchot had concluded his short address the presence of the President was announced by the appearance in full uniform of Captain Butt, his aide. As the form of the Chief Executive appeared the audience arose and cheered for several minutes. As he shook hands with Pinchot there was another large outburst of cheers. Then somebody started to sing "America," and the audience joined in a rapturous song.

In introducing the President, Mr. Pinchot declared that he was the author of the best defense of missionaries that had ever been uttered.

"It is my high honor to introduce a great layman, a strong advocate of material conservation as well as moral and spiritual conservation, and himself the greatest missionary in the history of the world," he said.

The President said he was once at Marshall Hall with Justice Harlan, and saw the latter shoot at a mark and hit the bull's-eye in the center. After that, he said, the justice could not be persuaded to try another shot. Were he as smart as Justice Harlan, he remarked, he would not be there to take another shot at the missionaries' work if he had done so well as the chairman had stated.

THOMAS REPORTS ON SLOT MACHINES

City's Solicitor Says, If Not a Menace to the Public, They Are Lawful.

Recently the police of the District have been making a crusade against slot machines attached to the front of buildings or upon front pavements, seeking their removal on the ground that they are both a public nuisance and a general obstruction. An opinion on behalf of the slot machine owners was asked for from the District Corporation Counsel, who decided today that slot machines attached to buildings which are not a menace to the moving public are lawful and may be allowed to remain undisturbed.

MISS HENNING BRIDE OF FRENCH MARQUIS

Romance of Daughter of Former Kentuckian Crowned Today by Marriage to Man With Whom She Eloped a Year Ago.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—The international romance which began nearly a year ago with the partial elopement of Miss Susanne Henning, daughter of James W. Henning, former Kentuckian and now a wealthy New York banker, and the Marquis Antoine de Charette, a scion of one of the oldest families of the French nobility, was crowned today with the wedding ceremony in Our Lady's Chapel of St. Patrick's Cathedral.

Archbishop Farley performed the ceremony, assisted by Mr. Lavelle. For weeks elaborate preparations have been under way for the wedding, and no detail of pomp and splendor to make it one of the most noted of society's weddings in many years was lacking.

The romance has attracted wide attention. Miss Henning was one of the most popular of New York's society girls and the marquis has been a leader in his own country and America. When they decided to marry nearly a year ago, Miss Henning's father refused his consent, whereupon the marquis induced Miss Henning to go to his home in France with a chaperon, leaving the irate father. The result was parental consent and today's ceremony.

MINISTERS LEAD RAID.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Nov. 11.—Two ministers led a raid upon an illicit saloon, which resulted in the seizure of twenty cases of beer and two jugs of whiskey. It was pay day at Fort Leavenworth, and "joints" were liberally patronized by the soldiers. The ministers made a complaint at police headquarters and volunteered to lead the officers in the raid.

WILSON'S CONDITION STILL FAVORABLE

No Decrease, However, in Paralysis of Navy's Injured Quarterback.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 11.—It was stated at the Naval Hospital this morning that Earl D. Wilson, the injured quarterback of the football team, was in excellent general condition but that there has been no decrease of the paralysis since the operation of Sunday. Wilson's good general condition is all in his favor. There is a general impression that Wilson is quite young and untrained as an athlete. This is untrue as he is slightly over twenty-two years of age, being one of the oldest men on the football squad. This is his third year on the football squad though he never played on the first team before. He is a thorough athlete, being a member of the baseball, basketball and gymnasium teams.

PASTOR OF CHURCH IS 85 YEARS OLD

ELIZABETH, N. J., Nov. 11.—The Very Rev. Dean Martin Gessner, pastor of St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Church, today is eighty-five years old. He is still in active service, and his parishioners hope that he will round out the century, as he is still mentally keen. During his thirty-five years at St. Patrick's he built $2,000,000 worth of church property.

One Doctor.

Have only one doctor—just one! No sense in running from one doctor to another! Select the best one, then stand by him. No sense in trying this thing, that thing, for your cough. Carefully, deliberately select the best cough medicine, then take it. Which one is the best? Ask your doctor.

Ask him about Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for throat and lung troubles. Doctors have prescribed it for 70 years.
